New Czech Front

The Russian communiqué described the new Czech front as from 12 to 31 miles in depth and spreading over a 170-mile expanse from Lukpow Pass southwest along the Carpathian Mountain ranges to the Tatar Pass at the eastern tip of Czechoslovakia.

While other Soviet armies scored gains in northern Transylvania and battled for the liberation of Belgrade in Yugoslavia, troops of General Ivan I. Petrov's Fourth Ukrainian (Continued on Page Two)

Pincers Drive On Industrial City Of Cesena In Italy Reported In Progress

COUNTER-ATTACKS BY NAZIS HEAVY

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Oct. 19.—The Allied Eighth Army in Italy developed a two-pronged pincers drive against the industrial city of Cesena today. Smashing forward against stern opposition, the troops commanded by Lieut. Gen. Sir Oliver Leese forced a bridgehead over the Pisciatello river, to the east of the city, while Indian troops captured Acquafredda and Rovereto, southwest of Cesena.

The Eighth Army in the Adriatic sector and the Fifth Army lunging for the Po valley ran up against the Nazi counterattacks. Only limited gains were scored by the Fifth Army in the face of the stiffened Nazi resistance which slowed up the schedule of the Po valley drive.

Bitter Slugging
American troops of the Fifth Army engaged in bitter slugging matches to evict the Germans from half a dozen mountain features, some of which he only eight miles south of the city of Bologna.

Heavy fighting continued to rage on the southern slopes of Mount Belmonte which changed hands several times in the fluctuating struggle.

The Yanks pushed one spearhead beyond La Fabbrica, along Route 65, parallel to the main Florence-Bologna road.

South African troops with the Fifth wrested Mount Pezza from the enemy and Negro troops captured Mount Castiglione in the west coast sector.

Ninety-Seven-Year Old Man Is Elopers

AGED AUTHOR OF 'THE FACE ON THE BARROOM FLOOR' IS ON HONEYMOON

ELKTON, Md., Oct. 19.—(INS)—Ninety-seven-year-old John Henry Titus, who penned his way to fame with "The Face on the Barroom Floor," today was honeymooning with the former Mrs. Elizabeth Pfleger, after their elopement in Elkton.

Both Titus and his bride, who is 43 years his junior, give their home addresses as New York City. After the ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. P. Hopkins, the couple boarded a New York bus for their wedding trip.

The marriage was Titus' third. He was reportedly married more than half a million dollars to date for his 120-verse Saga of an old artist ruined by drink, which he wrote 72 years ago.

Turned down by editors for two years, the "Face on the Barroom Floor" was the story of a virtually every elopement student in the nation within a short time after it was eventually published in 1874.

Reformers glorified in it at Temperance rallies, despite Titus' avowal that he meant it as a satire on "Goodie-Goodyes."

A Reuter front dispatch reported an overnight gain to points four miles south of Venray.

(Evening papers in London meanwhile reported a German radio broadcast of a Nazi supreme headquarters warning that the Allies are preparing an attack which will surpass anything which has happened so far in the eastern campaign.)

Jap Report Says Allies In Attack In Indian Ocean

Slashing Attack By Allied Task Force On Nicobar Island Group Reported

(International News Service)

A slashing assault by an Allied task force of aircraft and warships against the Jap-held Nicobar Island group in the Indian Ocean between the Andaman Islands and Dutch Sumatra, was reported today by the Tokyo radio.

Attacks from the air and naval bombardments were reported continuing against one island in the Nicobar group.

The broadcast report of the task force assault was recorded by the FCC.

Began Tuesday

The Allied onslaught began Tuesday, the Japs said, and fighting continued through this morning.

The main target of the attack was identified as the island of Car Nicobar, northwestmost of the group lying west of the Kra Isthmus which links Thailand with the Malay Peninsula.

The Japs failed to mention under what flag the Allied task force was operating but presumably the forces were comprised of British warcraft which had been pouring steadily to the Indian Ocean.

Radio Tokyo, in a broadcast made at 3 p. m. Jap time (2 a. m. EWT) said a report on the interception of the raiding task force had "just come to hand."

Jap Claims

"On Tuesday morning," the Jap announcement said, 24 enemy warcraft were shot down.

Moscow, however, did not immediately confirm the reports.

Japanese Say Landing Being Made On Small Island In Central Philippines

NO CONFIRMATION FROM AMERICANS

By J. C. OESTREICHER (U. S. Foreign Editor)

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's long-standing pledge to redeem the Philippines was in process of fulfillment today.

Official broadcasts from Tokyo, still lacking Washington or Pearl Harbor confirmation, said that mighty units of the United States fleet had steamed into the Gulf of Leyte north of Mindanao, opened a terrific bombardment of coastal areas and landed the first invasion armada on the small island of Suluan.

The attack was launched two days ago, the Japanese broadcast said, and was followed today with a blistering assault by hundreds of American bombers against the Philippine capital of Manila and nearby Clark airfield.

Significantly, Tokyo made no attempt to pretend that the invasion, in which Gen. MacArthur himself was said to have participated as a fleet commander, had failed of its purpose.

By J. LYNN LEONARD (U. S. Foreign Writer)

American "reinvaders" of the Philippines was announced by the Japanese Domei agency today.

United States warships have steamed into Leyte Gulf in the east-central Philippines, Tokyo said, and landings have already been made on the small island of Suluan.

China-based American aircraft as well as all naval forces in the Pacific except Vice Admiral Marc A. Mitscher's task force 38 are participating, Domei said, according to (Continued on Page Two)

Huge Damage At Orlando

ORLANDO, Fla., Oct. 19.—(INS)—The tropical hurricane moved into central Florida early today and roared over Orlando causing an estimated two million dollars damage to property. Winds up to 80 miles per hour were recorded in Orlando.

As the storm moved north through the citrus growing area, growers announced that some 20 million dollars damage had been caused to the crop.

They estimated that from 40 to 60 per cent of the grapefruit crop had been destroyed, and 15 to 20 per cent of the orange crop was gone.

In Orlando as well as through central Florida, nearly all communications were down. Electric power in most sections of Orlando was out and the 33 lakes within the city limits were overflowing their banks, causing additional damage.

Sing if you will of the backfield and runs that startle the stands, and sing of the "T" and the quarterback and the runner that gets the hand. Now I'll say, for they are fine, but the reason for them let me rise and say is because of the men of the line. The guards and the tackles are pushed, the center is pushed around and when play is in and the ball is snapped the ends will be somewhere around. So sing of the backs if you want to, but the line gets a vote I'd say, for they are the unsung heroes my friend, it's bright fifty-eight today.

Twenty-Four Airmen Killed By Explosion On Liberator Bomber

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(INS)—Twenty-four American airmen were killed yesterday when a Liberator bomber exploded 6,000 feet over Bebington on the Wirral Peninsula, Cheshire, U. S. army officials announced today.

Bodies of two other men are being sought because 26 air force members were believed in the plane.

Cause of the explosion was not known, but an investigation is under way.

Residents of Bebington, many of whom rushed from their homes at the sound of the explosion, had narrow escapes from being struck by pieces of the big bomber, which came hurtling to earth.

The Liberator, completely out of control, crashed in open country near Storrington Station, just inside the Bickenhead boundary.

Germans Report Furious Battle Along Border

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(INS)—A tremendous battle between Russian and German troops along the border of East Prussia was reported in progress today by the Nazi DNB agency.

The German agency also reported that Nazi troops had evacuated the East Prussian border town of Eydtkuhnen.

Eydtkuhnen is situated on the direct rail line from Kaunas, Lithuania, to Interburg and Koenigsburg in East Prussia.

Tampa-St. Petersburg Are Reported In Storm Affected District

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 19.—(INS)—The tropical hurricane sweeping northward from the Caribbean struck Tampa, Fla., at 6:30 a. m. today, the Miami weather bureau announced.

A checkup at Tampa showed that the center of the hurricane was still south of the city. High winds which began last night still raged in the area, but no damage was reported.

Gales up to 100 miles an hour raged in the Tampa-St. Petersburg area. The weather bureau said: "Indications are for continued north or northeastward movement about 16 to 18 miles an hour. The storm in passing over the Florida peninsula will be accompanied by shifting gales of 60 to 70 miles per hour which will reach the vicinity of Jacksonville this afternoon."

Residents of low-lying coastal areas were warned to leave immediately for higher ground.

The weather bureau said the winds would be accompanied by high tides at Daytona Beach.

No immediate reports of damage were received from Sarasota but at least seven persons were killed by the storm in Cuba and several hundred injured.

Key West, which was in the direct path of the hurricane was virtually isolated for hours.

All Florida communities have had ample warning from the weather bureau of the storm's approach and damage and loss of life was expected to be held to a minimum.

Most stores and homes were "battered down" with protective coverings over windows.

Sweden Reports Robots Sighted

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 19.—(INS)—A number of "rocket planes" or high-flying robot bombs swept over various areas of south Sweden today.

Swedish defense authorities gave out few details other than to say that in some instances the craft passed over so high they could not be seen although their engines were audible.

One theory was that the Germans are now sending a new type of flying bomb against England from bases on the Baltic coast, aiming them in a curve that takes them over Sweden.

Fund Workers Have Meeting

Chairman Morrison Optimistic On Ability To Reach $125,000 Goal

At a meeting of United War Fund division leaders last night at The Castleton hotel, H. J. Morrison, general chairman, expressed his confidence in the organization's ability to meet the $125,000 goal promptly in the annual fund drive. Practically all of the group chairman were present, and supplies were distributed so as to put the campaign into high gear for the opening next Wednesday morning. W. E. Langan, vice chairman, explained the method of organization and solicitation plans, and reflected the careful preparation of the top organization of the campaign.

Enthusiasm is mounting in the annual drive for funds. The liberation of countries where relief needs are apparent is creating greater interest in the support of many of the agencies. The progress of the war has increased, rather than lessened, the needs of service organizations, particularly U.S.O. and War Prisoners' Aid. The danger of mounting delinquency at home is making it more apparent that local welfare agencies require adequate support.

Hundreds of local citizens have volunteered their services in the solicitation drive. Every phase of economic life of the community will be covered. Every individual will be expected to help. With the cooperation now indicated, completion of the drive within 10 days or two weeks will be assured.

flank. There is no doubt, the Germans asserted, that General Eisenhower is getting ready to launch a new and more violent assault before winter sets in.

American troops at the lower end of the battlefield captured the village of Champey, one mile south of Bruyeres, in heavy fighting.

The French First Army in the Belfort area repulsed six local counter-attacks in the vicinity of the Moselle river while other French units battled Nazi forces in the snow-covered French Alps.

The American and French positions in the Vosges foothills, headquarters said, were consolidated and improved in the face of stubborn resistance and vain counter-attacks. Prisoners were taken in local actions southeast of Cormont.

Nazi Pillboxes Smashed
In the Aachen area of Germany, the American First Army captured the northwest of the beleaguered city destroyed a large number of German pillboxes and advanced against strong opposition.

American fighter planes and fighter-bombers carried out a concentrated attack on buildings in the northwest section of Aachen where the Nazi forces are holding out.

While house-to-house fighting continued to rage inside Aachen, German counter-attacks northeast of Herten were repulsed.

The Germans also launched a dawn counter-attack south of Wurselen which was repulsed after the loss of a single roadblock.

Troops north of Aachen were raided by German bombers five times during the night.

In the last 24 hours, field headquarters revealed, the First Army captured 685 prisoners. The First Army captured 685 prisoners.

RUSSIAN FORCES SURGE DEEP INTO CZECHOSLOVAKIA

ian army slashed through the ice-covered passes of the Carpathians and captured Verckov, Uzk, Lubkov, Rusk, Jablonicka and Viskov, all vital communication centers.

General Petroff's forces, operating with Marshal Dodiou Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian Army, which is slashing into northern Transylvania, battled to eliminate the last major German salient on the 1500-mile front.

Extends 150 Miles
The German salient extends more than 150 miles into the Carpathian Ukraine, which was annexed by Hungary in 1940 and into Transylvania and eastern Slovakia.

In Transylvania, Malinovsky's troops, moving alongside Romanian forces, fought their way into 50 inhabited places, taking the town and vital railway junction of Valea Lui Mihai along with another rail center at Simleu Silvaniei.

The Russian communiqué revealed, in addition, that Red soldiers continued their battle in the streets of Belgrade, pushing the German defenders from street to street with the help of the Yugoslavian people.

With the help of Bulgarian troops, fighting in Yugoslavia, the Russians also seized the towns of Kursunlija and Blace.

Local Battling
Action elsewhere on the long eastern front was described in the communiqué as "reconnaissance activity and fighting of local importance."

The Russian communiqué also described the Russian communiqué supplement.

Germans concentrated considerable firepower on mountain slopes in the area of Jablonica Pass, the Russians reported. All roads and railways were mined and blocked, only to be eliminated by the Soviet sappers.

"By powerful blows from the front and flanks," the Russians reported, "the enemy's defenses were smashed."

The Soviet Air Force, meanwhile, continued its hammering blows between the front and East Prussia where still other Russian troops are driving toward the capital city of Königsberg.

Long-range bombers set fire to trains at the rail junction of Goldar, according to the communiqué.

The big question in the world whether the western nations, United States and Europe, which are using millions of black, brown and yellow troops to establish freedom for themselves, will when the war is over, put these people back in political and economic bondage, whether they will undertake to establish democratic liberty for them.

He gave it as his opinion that western Christianity is on trial in the United States in the next 20 years and that if it fails, negroes will turn to eastern Christianity.

Troops In The Pacific Area

For a long time it has been the opinion of most Americans that after Hitler is conquered the war against Japan will be mostly a naval and aerial affair. The United States alone has now gained distinct superiority over the Japanese fleet, without counting the powerful British naval organization. And so far as aerial forces are concerned our equipment is far superior to that of the Japs. Therefore it has been believed that we ought soon to be able to bomb the Japs into submission, especially if we can get the proper air bases in China and Siberia.

But now it is becoming more than possible that we may need a considerable ground force in the Pacific area too. The Japs, making progress while we are busy in Europe have been penetrating further and further into China. The Chinese are becoming more and more desperate and are beginning to complain about the small amount of material help they have received.

Before the war against the Japs can be completely won they must be driven out of China as well as out of the Philippines and the East Indies. Whether destroying Tokyo and other cities on the Japanese islands will be sufficient to do this is problematical. It is possible that the Japs may dig in in China and fight foot by foot using all the delaying tactics possible including various forms of jungle guerilla warfare at which they seem adept.

If this possibility turns out to be the true one then we are going to need much infantry force before the Japs are thoroughly beaten, especially if they succeed in thoroughly demoralizing the Chinese army.

It is not at all sure, therefore, that finishing the Japs will be merely a matter of destroying their fleet and bombing their cities into ruins.

Postwar House

Like all wars, this war has so accelerated experiments in the development of raw materials and their application to industry that great encouragement has been lent to the prophets of spectacular changes in transportation, communication, farming, housing and all phases of manufacturing immediately following the war.

Many developments are so far advanced that they will be immediately applied to civilian uses after the war, but there is no ground for forecasts that nearly every prewar building, car, factory, transportation and communication system, radio set and other convenience of business and living will lapse into obsolescence with the peace.

Those in the house building industry believe that the people have been oversold on a postwar house that will practically operate itself. They find resistance to efforts to meet the housing shortage. People say that they are going to make out somehow until the miracle house is a proved success.

It is true that the postwar house will have new conveniences and will have the construction benefit of new methods, including more factory prefabrication. But it is also true that the American people have an abiding affection for the housing with which they are familiar. The country is full of old houses to which improvements in heating, sanitation, lighting, air conditioning and other conveniences have been added as they became available.

Americans are quick to adopt improvements, but also they are reluctant to part with cherished possessions. The two attitudes make for a balance which probably will assure an orderly housing transition in the years following the war.

Why 'Relief' In War-Time?

Often we hear "doubting Thomases" reflecting acridly upon the need for charitable organizations in these prosperous days. They point to plentiful jobs and high wages and see "no reason why anyone should need charity."

The behind-the-scenes outlook is vastly different. War is recognized as the cause of let-downs in moral behavior. The social implication is a tremendous one with resultant scores on the community life—girls "in trouble," disease, juvenile delinquency.

In war times, some folks are so busy they lack time to attend their youngsters' requirements. New problems for social workers are set up. Demands for recreational facilities are increased.

War means other dislocations. Fathers are inducted. Their families frequently need help and guidance above responsibility of the armed services' welfare officers.

Then we have those recipients of a charity as old as history itself—the lame, the halt and the blind. To the physically handicapped, to the mentally inert, war provides no prosperity. Indeed it was for this type of client that welfare groups had their inception. Social work and war-time activities were later developments.

Added to local needs is our responsibility to men and women in the armed forces through the United War Fund appeal, running concurrently. We have a splendid opportunity to be civically alert through the size of the donation we make to this combined appeal. The campaign opens next week. The quota is $125,000. Will you do your share?

Help By Not Traveling

If ODT Director Johnson's warning to intending fall and winter tourists resembles a voice crying in a wilderness, nevertheless travelers by rail and bus will have only themselves to blame if they encounter the indicated hardships and discomforts.

Even before we entered the war the Office of Defense Transportation began insistently to point out that military needs must take precedence over civilians' convenience. As Mr. Johnson says, even the unexampled American transportation system cannot fulfill its responsibility to our military forces and essential business travelers and take care of the "pleasure traveler" as well.

No matter how soon we achieve victory over the Axis, there can be no restoration of normal conditions until our armies are brought home. Our recent military achievements have not changed the domestic travel situation. It remains the same this season as last. The railroads are carrying an equally heavy burden which is taxing their personnel and equipment. Unfortunately the difficulty of bringing this fact home to the traveling public also remains the same.

The way the Russian and British armies are racing to set ahead of one another in the Balkans indicates that politics is not adjourned—even in Europe.

There are two kinds of arm-chair strategists in the United States. One cult can tell Generals Marshall and Eisenhower how to win the war, and the other can tell Candidates Roosevelt and Dewey how to win the election.

Washington Calling

By MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington Election Outcome Is Uncertain

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 19.—Here in the northwest corner of America you can get from equally competent observers diametrically opposed opinions as to how this state with its eight electoral votes will go in the November election.

My own guess, based on talks with a number of people of varying political beliefs, is that it will go for President Roosevelt, but by a margin very much smaller than the majority of 140,000 which the state of Washington gave him four years ago. That, however, is no more than a guess.

Frederick E. Baker, a Wilkie Republican who is working hard for the Dewey-Bricker ticket, says the state is for Roosevelt as of this date. On the basis of private polls, he divided the vote, on October 10, as follows: Roosevelt 394,396; Dewey 389,872.

But Baker, who was Wilkie's candidate for Republican national chairman at the feuding session of the national committee in St. Louis last year, adds that the trend which has been at work for the past three months is continuing in Dewey's favor, and that by November 7 the Republican candidate will have a majority of 10,000.

Other Republicans believe it could go either way by a majority of 10,000. And if the margin is that close, there is a state which went so overwhelmingly for FDR in 1940, then it means Dewey's election is almost a certainty.

You are made aware here, more than anywhere else I've been, of the uncertainty in this strange election year. In 1936, and again in '40, there was little or no doubt about the outcome a month before the voters were to go to the polls. That is not true this time.

First, how many of the new-comers in the state will vote? Registration may or may not be an answer. It appears that in the Seattle area, with its shipyards and airplane plants, the job of registering new voters has been done rather well.

In a special registration drive before the primary, 25,000 new names were added to the voting lists. Recently, in a concentrated effort over several days, another 25,000 were added, and it is believed the total will be 75,000 before election day. Of course, out state in the rural areas there is also a registration drive, which is probably adding Republican voters to the poll lists.

There are those who believe that many industrial workers will not bother to go to the polls on election day, even though they may have been officially registered under the spur of the registration drive. Wayne Morse, Republican candidate for the Senate in Oregon, predicts that not more than 25 per cent of the new industrial workers in the Northwest will mark their X opposite the donkey or the elephant.

The theory is that they're prosperous and that, having no quarrel, they have no one to vote against. They would have to give up half a day's work to go and vote, and it conceivably will not seem that important. Washington has a strict law forbidding electioneering on election day, and this has been interpreted to include the business, common elsewhere, of rounding up voters and driving them to the polls.

Another factor which contributes to the uncertainty in this state is the degree of influence exercised by Republican Governor Arthur B. Langlie. Following a succession of incompetents, Langlie has given the state a sound administration. While there has been nothing spectacular or showy about Langlie's administration, he has gained wide popularity.

In the Dewey-Brownell strategy, it is the attraction of men like Langlie, running for re-election, that is counted on to pull the national ticket through. Langlie's opponent, Senator Mark C. Walker, also has a popular following in the state.

As I say, you get predictions diametrically opposed. An impartial observer, long familiar with the state's politics, predicted Washington would go for FDR by a majority of 35,000 to 40,000. The smart betting money hasn't yet come out of hiding. That may mean the state still is in the doubtful category.

SHOES

Shoes pick up a lot of dirt from the ground. They get pretty dusty too.

Think what happens to the ground from dogs and other animals and from people too.

Perhaps it is not too sanitary sometimes.

Some men pull their pants off over their dirty shoes. They do not realize that they are soiling the inside of their clothing.

The shoes should be taken off first.

When dressing the shoes should be put on last. This plan helps to keep the clothing clean.

Hints On Etiquette

SENATOR GLEAN NOW TELLS US

The "glean" technique, which has been in vogue during the past few years, achieves its effectiveness by subtlety and indirection. It is always sly and underhanded—never straightforward and direct.

Name calling is a part of this sly technique. It is definitely reprehensible and decidedly un-American. It engenders disunity, disloyalty and class as well as race hatred.

Why do the international arch criminals: Hitler, Himmler, Goebbels, Goering, and Ribbentrop and the other Nazis as well as the militarists of Japan fear the election of Tom Dewey and John Bricker?

Why are they so eager to see him defeated for the high office of the Presidency?

The answer is that they know that when Dewey is elected they will be hunted down and brought to trial, and that their crimes will merit the Death Penalty.

They know too that Dewey, nor any member of his family, cannot be bribed. They know he would scorn to accept any 'gifts' of stock or securities or any form of ownership in European Utilities, Chemical or Industrial Plants or foreign corporations in Europe, Asia or Africa.

They are afraid of him because they know he cannot be reached. That is neither avaricious nor mercenary.

Because these international gangsters fear Dewey, they will spend any amount of money to prevent his election.

And this is the very reason why so many Americans of both political faiths want to see Dewey elected.

CURIOUS CYNIC CANTS

In trying the ice of seeming indifference, many a man has suddenly found himself up to his temples in a sea of trouble.

The baseball season is past and the football season soon will be, then where can a fellow take his girl so she can ask foolish questions?

Who is without reverence is devoid of virtue.

If he is with a woman and speaks to a man acquaintance, both men should remove their hats out of deference to her.

If he speaks to a woman while passing or walks along with her, he puts on his hat immediately; but if they stop to talk for a while, he should remain bareheaded, unless the thermometer forbids this gesture.

When a man does any trifling service for a woman, such as picking up her dropped glove giving her a seat in a street car, etc., he should lift his hat in response to her "thank you." And when he is with a woman for whom another man performs a similar service, both should remove their hats.

A man should always remove his hat when the stars and stripes pass. "Regular" Army and Naval officers always salute rather than raise their hats. Reserve officers vary in this—some, through habit, remove their hats and others more used to their military status, salute, which is considered preferable.

Question: Should a girl who marries but keeps her job be called "Miss" or "Mrs."—M. B.

Answer: Usually when a girl marries and retains her job, her fellow-workers call her by her new name, unless she is a doctor, lawyer or writer who has established her professional reputation through her maiden name. However, some offices and shops continue calling married women "Miss" thinking there is prejudice toward "Mrs." in business. I think it is entirely up to the girl herself as to whether she wishes to be called by her maiden or her married name.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

LET THE INFANT FEED HIMSELF

As soon as the infant tries to use the spoon encourage him to do so. When he chooses to feed himself with his bare hands, be happy to let him while he is eating mashed food. He might be able to do this by the age of 12 months, or even earlier. Protect him and the floor well and let him go to it. Don't bother about the mess. His success at getting food into his mouth himself will do more to cultivate good appetite than almost anything else.

Put a spoon, preferably one with a short bent handle, by his plate and he may choose to use it, part of the time at least. If he does not then don't insist. He will in time begin to feed himself. He will have only one food before him at a time, a very small portion of it; no liquid there then. If he seems to grow tired, gently offer to help him but be sure not to push it into him against his will or too fast. It is best to let him end the meal and get down and have the meal end the moment he begins playing with the food.

But don't scold or punish him then; try never to do so in connection with his eating. He should be more ready to eat at the next regular meal time. A good rule is always to let the child choose between what is offered and nothing. This is vastly different from telling him he must eat the food.

Cultivating Appetite

The foregoing paragraphs are from my special bulletin "Eating Problems," to be had by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it. With the aid of this bulletin, good and well-adjusted young mothers have been able to cultivate a good appetite in the baby or young child. My hope is that many more mothers with tiny infants will read this bulletin with a view to avoiding eating problems in their child.

My son, just four years old, refuses to eat any vegetable except potatoes.

"I have tried offering small portions of the desired vegetable, insisting that it be eaten before presenting the rest of the meal. He gags, sometimes vomits, and generally upsets himself so much that I feel there must be some other course to pursue."

Emotions Involved

What this mother overlooks, as I wrote her, is that eating is not a mere matter of mechanics but of emotion chiefly and that for good chewing and swallowing there must be pleasant emotion. It is clear that this mother either pushes food into her or tries to force him to eat. Neither is wise. This mother will be able to follow my advice I do not know. It won't be easy for her since she must first make over herself and her emotions in regard to her child's eating.

I advised her to offer this child one food at a time, the most essential first in very small portions and always let him choose between eating it and nothing, to seal her lips and so control herself as to reveal no feeling whatsoever over her boy's eating.

The World and the Mud Puddles

TWO INTERESTING QUESTIONS

The assault upon the officers in the Hotel in Washington, D. C., after Mr. Tobin's dinner to the President in that hotel, presents an interesting question. This assault was perpetrated, evidently, by Mr. Tobin's "goons" and upon the refusal of the Army officers to answer the question addressed to them by these "goons" as to whether or not they were going to support and vote for their Commander-in-Chief.

The answer given these "goons" by the officers presents another question. It will be remembered that the officers replied that it was "none of their business" and declined to make any other answer. This was violence—violence on the part of the "goons" and pretty (Continued on Page Five)

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

I got at typewritten bawling out I was at a Texas college professor because I had written that opera and symphony bored me and that I preferred popular music to classical!

"Why do some sing opera for a hundred thousand a year instead of becoming swoon crooners so they can make one and a half million like one did whom I wish had died in infancy?" he asks.

I don't know, Professor. Or could it be, perhaps, that I prefer corned beef and cabbage to caviar? Or that I had my chance between a fifty-dollar-a-week job as a salesman and a twelve-dollar one as a cub reporter and chose the latter?

"Why should I teach mathematics for three thousand or less a year," he continues, "instead of singing for some jazzband when I have had some training and can beat the majority of them on the air?"

I'll tell you why, Professor. Because you are a mathematician and a teacher at heart. But you enjoy those carefree, bohemian jazz singers and the lives they lead. So you are bitter and assume the pose of looking down on them.

Thus it has always been. Criticism is often just a form of envy. Superiority in attitude is generally the expression of an inferiority complex.

I have listened to symphonic recitals when my heart was pounding, my breath coming in gasps and my skin tingling because I was so thrilled!

May be so, Professor, but those are also infallible symptoms of acute indigestion. When I have them I don't go to a symphony concert but take bicarbonate instead.

Honor All Who Do

However, all joking aside, I honor you for getting so much enjoyment out of opera and symphony. I honor everyone who does.

But the mere fact that you say that champion crooners make a million-and-a-half while champion opera singers have to worry along on a measly hundred thousand proves that fifteen people enjoy jazz to every one who likes opera. By all means go on enjoying your Brahms and your Bach and your Wagner and your Verdi. But please let me and your hundred million fellow low brows get our fun out of Irving Berlin and those other popular composers whose names I don't even remember.

You tell me that this country supports more symphony orchestras and kindred organizations than any other country in the world.

Do you know that almost every symphony orchestra and every opera in this country depends upon the wealthy for its continuance?

You probably know that these patrons of the arts are called "Macs" after the Roman millionaire who as early as 73 B. C. had to make it possible for the Classics to become immortal.

Too bad they didn't have radio and toothpowder and vitamins and coffee and enterprising sponsors in those days.

Or we might know more about the Irving Berlin of 73 B. C. (Distributed by King Features Syndicate.)

STORK BUSINESS IS FALLING OFF

Only 105,000 Births in First Seven Months Of 1944, 2,000 A Month Less Than Last Year

By JAMES H. SMITH
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, Oct. 19.—Old Doc Stork's appointment pad has not been as jammed this year as during 1943 when his war time schedule enabled him to deliver 204,281 babies, the state bureau of vital statistics reported today.

Record This Year
George E. Greenwood, acting director, said approximately 105,000 lusty infants arrived during seven months of 1944 and births were running about 2,000 a month under last year when the largest number of babies were delivered since 1928. More than 400,000 babies have been born in Pennsylvania since Pearl Harbor.

The birth rate passed the 200,000 mark in 1942 for the first time in 14 years, he explained. The banner year was 1921 when 244,382 babies were born.

For eight years between 1920-30, Greenwood disclosed, the annual birth rate topped 200,000 yearly, but began to decline in 1929 until it touched a low of 163,712 in 1934.

Have Large Bureau
"We have in Pennsylvania the largest single bureau of vital statistics in the United States," Greenwood said explaining that more than 12,700,000 birth and death records dating back to 1857 were on file. Birth registration became compulsory in 1906. There are also thousands of divorce, marriage and adoption records on file.

Greenwood explained that the bureau received reports from 725 local registrars and had district offices in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton and Erie.

"Prior to 1941," he pointed out, "there was no law or legislative act to enable Pennsylvanians to file delayed registration certificates."

Greenwood said that 9,423 World War I veterans have registered certificates since an act of 1937 permitted free filing.

Small Son Is

Fatally Burned

LEBANON, Pa., Oct. 19.—(INS)—A young mother whose husband is serving overseas in the army grieved today for her three-year-old son, Ronald Meyer, who suffered fatal burns while a bedspring held his tiny foot in a viselike grip on a burning mattress.

The mother, Mrs. Florence Meyer was at work late yesterday in a war plant near her Lebanon home when she was notified that her son had been rushed to the Good Samaritan Hospital. In her haste to reach her son's side, she tripped and sprained her ankle necessitating treatment in the accident ward while doctors fought to save her son.

The child and his five year old brother, Myron, were playing in a second floor bedroom when they accidentally set fire to the mattress. In his excitement, Ronald bounced on the bed and his foot slipped through a covering into the coiled springs.

Myron was slightly burned when he struggled to extricate his brother. A woman who had been hired to watch the two boys and their one-year-old sister, was not aware of the fire until Ronald began screaming.

rough action on the part of the officers.

Now, this is the first question: Is Sidney Hillman and his Political Action Committee, planning to organize all over the nation gangs of "goons" with which to intimidate the voters in every precinct of those cities where thousands of war workers live? And that is a tight interesting question.

The second question is: Was the refusal of the Army officers to answer the question, propounded to them by the teamsters an indication of either the indifference of the officers to the November election, or an indication that they and many other members of the Military forces of the United States were not impressed with the necessity of voting for the President because of the President's assertion that he was "Commander-in-Chief" of the United Military forces?

The morning of the election and the events that happen during that day will answer the first question. The vote of the Armed forces of the United States, so far as those votes will be registered, will answer the second question.

Draft deferment for war workers is nothing new, according to Selective Service which has discovered records of occupational deferments in the files of General George Washington. On June 23, 1777, the Board of War recommended to the Continental Congress that 11 workmen in a "cannon and nail rod works" be discharged from the militia because they were more useful in their employment as artificers.

Dewey Assails Administration's Foreign Policies

Charges "Personal, Secret Diplomacy" Is Roosevelt's Program For Foreign Affairs

By LEO W. O'BRIEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALBANY, Oct. 19.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey prepared today for a second campaign invasion of Pennsylvania after telling a nationwide radio audience that failure of the Roosevelt administration to have ready an intelligent program for dealing with invaded Germany has cost American lives.

The Republican presidential nominee, whose speech in Pittsburgh tomorrow night is expected to deal with labor problems and the Political Action committee, delivered in New York City last night a smashing attack upon President Roosevelt's foreign policy.

He said it consisted largely of "personal, secret diplomacy" and that Mr. Roosevelt has studiously ignored his State and War departments and substituted his own will for the "informed judgment of the American people."

Addressing more than 2,000 persons at the New York Herald-Tribune forum, Governor Dewey lashed out at the now scrapped Morgenthau plan to make defeated Germany an agricultural nation, virtually without industry.

"On the basis of our Treasury department's ill-conceived proposals," said the governor, "the German people were told that a program of destruction was in store for them if they surrender. Almost overnight, the morale of the German people seemed changed. They are fighting with the frenzy of despair. We are paying in blood for our failure to have ready an intelligent program for dealing with invaded Germany."

The Republican nominee "called the roll" of several nations to support his argument that President Roosevelt's foreign policy "gives cause for great anxiety." He charged that:

1. President Roosevelt undertook to dispose of the fate of Poland "personally and secretly with Mr. Stalin," leaving the secretary of state behind and taking with him Harry Hopkins, "who acquired his training in foreign affairs in running the WPA."

2. The President has not yet, despite his talks with Stalin, "even secured Russian recognition of those whom we consider to be the true government of Poland."

3. The United States has sent a "batch of alphabetical agencies" to Italy, the people of which "deserve something better than the improvised, inefficient administration which personal New Deal government is giving them."

4. The Roosevelt administration lacked until now an official plan for dealing with invaded Germany because plans worked out by the two "primarily qualified" departments—state and war—"go for nothing when the President personally handles foreign policy."

5. Mr. Roosevelt's "persistent refusal" to grant recognition to the DeGaulle government of France is "contributing to the increasing chaos behind our lines at critical period of the war."

6. The September agreement restoring peaceful relations with Romania was signed by a representative of Soviet Russia acting in behalf of the United States.

"These are just a few examples," said the governor, "of what happens when a President insists upon handling foreign affairs on the basis of personal, secret diplomacy."

State Baptist Delegates Hear Inspiring Programs At Sessions Wednesday

At the evening session of the first day of the Pennsylvania Baptist convention, Wednesday, at the First Baptist church, Dr. Clarence Cranford of Washington, D. C., delivered the second of a series of four devotional messages related to the convention theme, "Christians for a Time Like This," that he will preach in the course of the convention.

Power For Such A Time
With "Power for Such A Time as This" as his subject, Dr. Cranford emphasized the power of the force of ideals, the power of Christian living. The words of Jesus are still so powerful that they could change the course of the world today, he said.

Speaking in the afternoon on "Faith for Such A Time as This," Dr. Cranford said that the faith that is needed for such a time as this is the faith that moves mountains. What may appear a mountainous problem may be only a mountainous tangle of little problems that it is possible to resolve by courageous adherence to Christian principles. He suggested the need for more prayer groups in churches at this time.

Annual sermon of the convention, one on "Meeting an Emergency," was preached at the evening session by Dr. A. H. Owens, of Clearfield, Pa. The text from the Book of Isaiah, "Who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdom for such a time as this?"

Day Of Greed
This is a day of war, a day of greed, a day of religious indifference and such a day is not a day for hickering and petty differences but a day of opportunity for Christians, he said.

Rev. Benjamin P. Browne, new executive secretary of the convention, was introduced to the assembly by Dr. Roger H. Williams, president, because of the many people present who were not at the previous session. The audience filled the church auditorium and Sunday school room to overflowing.

Rev. W. H. Hunt, of Frank, read the scripture and offered prayer. Choir of the host church furnished anthem music.

Candle light communion service conducted by Rev. Oliver W. Hurst, pastor, closed the evening session.

Afternoon Session
An address, "The Gospel in Camo," by Chaplain Charles Westley Hough, on leave from a post in the Caribbean area, was a feature of the afternoon session. Voluntary attendance at church services among soldiers averaged only ten per cent, he said. He spoke of the duties, in addition to conducting religious services, that an army chaplain performs, and at the close of his talk answered questions from the audience.

During the missionary conference, Dr. Victor S. Carton, of Assam, and Miss Ruth Makenham, of Cambridge, O., were speakers. Dr. Carton's subject was "The Challenge of India and Assam in This Day" and he said that in a time like this it is all-important that there be love around the world. Miss Makenham in her talk, "Lift Up Your Eyes and Look," stressed the importance of some mission work.

Town And Country Work
Presentation of Town and Country work, with Rev. H. C. Loughhead acting as chairman, consisted of a series of four talks dealing with this work by Rev. George E. Kirkwood of Dilltown and Vintondale, Rev. J. Sidney Kane, Jr., of Hawley, Rev. Robert McLaughlin of Indiana Lander Parish, and Dr. Mark Rich of New York City.

Dr. Mark Rich speaking on "The Country Church as It Is" cited the weaknesses and the strength of the country church. There is a forward movement in town and country churches at the present time, he said. There is a tremendous potentiality for awakening the urge to Christian living in this field, he said.

Dr. R. E. Harkness, of the faculty of Crozer Theological Seminary at Chester, spoke briefly on "Baptist Progress in History" outlining the history of the growth and work of the church.

Registration Reached 546
Rev. E. L. Scott, of the Anti-Saloon League, was introduced. Scripture was read by Rev. Robert L. Smith, Th. D., of Reynoldsville. Rev. John Taylor, of Erie, led opening prayer and Dr. Carey S. Osborne, of Uniontown, the closing prayer. Dr. Roger H. Williams presided.

It was announced that registration for the convention had reached 546 by mid-afternoon.

CHARGE TIE-INS COMPELLED

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—(INS)—OPA officials today charged that the New Castle and Charlevoix plants of the Cudahy Packing company compelled retail dealers to make tie-in sales, thus violating price control regulations.

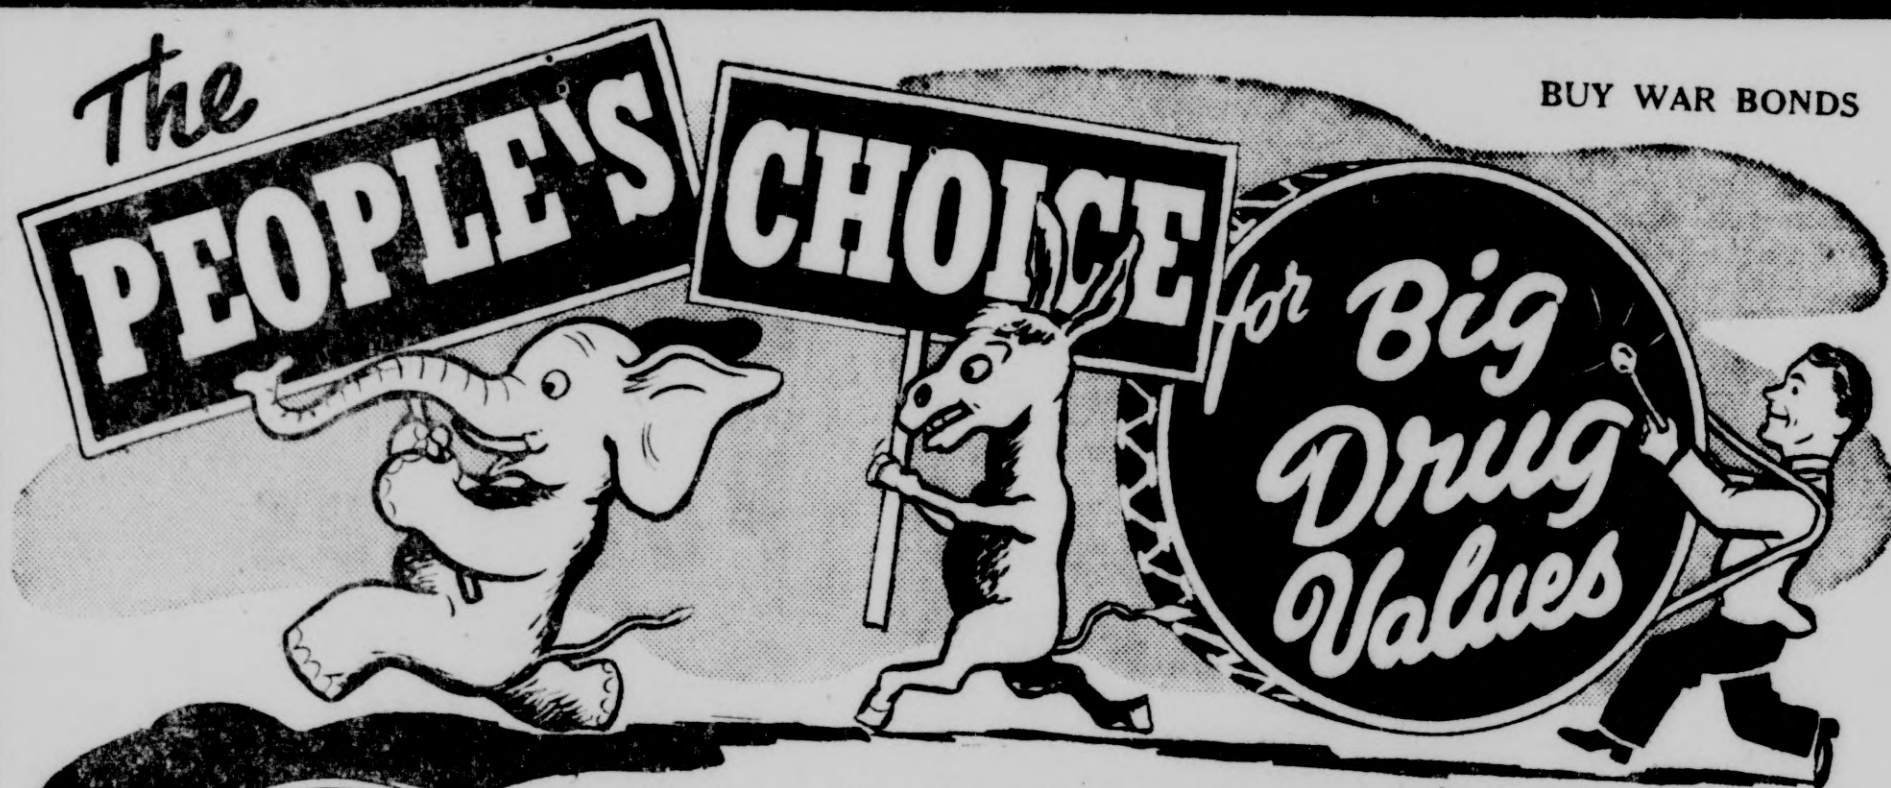

The investigators said the retail meat and grocery dealers were forced to make tie-in sales of butter and eggs.

There are 11,936 miles of shore line around the United States.

War-time living conditions may be the cause of spreading Pin-Worm infection. Scientific reports in many communities have shown at least one-third of the examined children and grown-ups to be victims of Pin-Worms—often without knowing what was wrong!

Watch out for the warning signs that may mean Pin-Worms in your child yourself: the tormenting, embarrassing rectal itch, the uneasy stomach, bed-wetting, nervous fidgeting, finicky appetite. New Discovery Hailed By Doctors After centuries of distress caused by Pin-Worms, a new and highly effective way to deal with this stubborn pest has recently been discovered. This scientific discovery, hailed by medical authorities, is a remarkable drug (containing violet). It is the vital element in P-W, the new Pin-Worm treatment developed by the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines. P-W tablets are small and easy to take, and they act in a special way to destroy the creatures. So don't take chances with Pin-Worms. 'In Service Cake' Marks Birthday At USO Center

Home Folks Mark Birthdays Of Men Serving Overseas By Donating Cakes To USO

It's catching—cakes are being taken to the USO center on the Square, by mothers, wives, daughters and sisters of those in U. S. service overseas on the date of their loved one's birthday as a form of observance.

Originated by Mrs. Archie Shoup of Bessemer, she baked and donated to the USO a large tiered cake, hot from the oven, commemorating the birthday of a second son in service, Archie A. Shoup. He is in the Perry Command at Long Beach, Calif., and his birthday falls on October 20.

Mrs. Shoup only a short time ago donated her first cake for another son. To share it with others in service is making happy not only those taking part, but their loved mothers and families back home. A birthday card bearing the autographs of all the boys at the USO for the impromptu celebration has been mailed to her son as a memento of "his party".

Another delightful surprise was given guests at the USO when the United Engineering employees donated 150 piping hot doughnuts made fresh in their kitchen which were also enjoyed by those who dropped by.

It is urged that more individuals and groups donate cookies and baked goods of all descriptions weekly to the USO, for the demand is growing.

Sgt. Russell Brown Wounded In Action

Young Marine Veteran Wounded
After 30 Months Of Battle
In Pacific

Sgt. Russell W. Brown, 21 years of age, has sent word home to his mother, Mrs. Ruth Brown, Lee avenue, that he has been wounded in action while in the battle of the Peleliu Islands, in the Southwest Pacific, around September 21.

Sgt. Brown is a veteran of the first marine division, the division which received the presidential citation at Guadalcanal. For thirty months he has been in action overseas, and last Friday he observed his 21st birthday, the third birthday he has observed overseas.

The young marine has been in many important Pacific battles, and took part in the invasions of Guadalcanal, and Cape Gloucester, New Britain Islands. According to his letters, the Peleliu Island battles are considered the worst, and he feels rather fortunate at only having received wounds.

For the past month, the young marine has been confined to a hospital ship, at a rear base in the South Pacific, and now his wounds are healing nicely. He asked his mother to disregard any serious word the war department may send him in the future in regards to his wounds. Sgt. Brown's letters are full of hope of getting home for a much needed rest.

Nazi Atrocities In Greece Now Being Revealed

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(INS)—German atrocities in Greece, including the burning to death of women and infants in scenes so gruesome that even a hardened Nazi officer broke down, were described today in dispatches painting a lurid word picture of the final agony of one annihilated village.

The Archbishop of Greece, Doctor Damascos, told of the Nazi horror in which Bulgarian troops also took part. Two thousand townships were ground into the dust under the German-Bulgarian heel and thousands of civilians, including women, children and aged men, wantonly slain, Dr. Damascos declared.

To a Reuters correspondent in Athens, the archbishop asserted that Nazi destruction in the south and Bulgarian ravages in the north had almost killed Greece.

"If the Bulgarians are not punished for their crimes, I will declare publicly that there is no justice on this earth," the prematurely aged and ill religious leader said on his 54th birthday.

Example of German Viciousness

As one example of the German viciousness, the archbishop cited to a correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph agency the death of the village of Karavrita, where the Nazi commander decided to destroy the entire town and kill every inhabitant. Eighty men of the German invaders' bodies had been slain in the region; that, and that alone, decided the fate of Karavrita in the enemy commander's mind, the archbishop said.

Every man, woman and child, regardless of age or state of health, was ordered to the village square where Nazi troops separated males over 14 from the remainder. These victims were forced to kneel in the center of the square while the women and children were crammed into a small wooden school building and told to watch.

When those inside the school had been compelled to line the windows facing the square, machine-guns in the streets cut down the men and boys kneeling before them. Then, without a pause, a Nazi arson squad set fire to the school building.

Panicked mothers threw their babies from the windows in a desperate effort to spare them from the flames. It was at this point that one German officer, unable to stand the horror being enacted before his eyes, broke from his company and smashed open a door of the building, out of which a "very few" victims managed to escape.

Postwar Planning Board Will Meet

"Each member of the commission has been given a project to study and will report on the progress made so far," said Director Mark S. James. The commission last met at Philadelphia October 6.

Type Of Clothing And Goods Sought For British Relief

Many requests have been received by the Lawrence county unit of the British Relief society as to the type of clothing and household goods desired in this week's drive in co-operation with the churches of New Castle.

I. J. Lewis, campaign chairman, states that the greatest need is for good clean used clothing for men, women and children. The robot bombing of southern England and London has caused widespread destruction of homes, clothing and household equipment, and the principal need at the present time is for warm clothing suitable for fall and winter wear. Shoes in good repair are also acceptable.

Since more than a million homes have been destroyed or damaged by robot bombing in recent months and resulting in an enormous loss of household goods, there is also an urgent need for blankets, bed linen, draperies, curtains, furniture covers and other miscellaneous household furnishings.

The Lawrence county unit in co-operation with many New Castle churches assisting in this drive urge that you search through your attics and other places of storage and bring out these items which you no longer need but can be of great comfort to the robot-bombed victims.

STORE GARDEN CROPS FOR USE ALL WINTER

Proper storage will enable home gardeners to enjoy their crops all winter. Some simple method of storage can be adapted to conditions in almost every home.

Most garden crops which can be stored require low temperature and high moisture conditions. Onions, squash and pumpkins are exceptions to this rule.

In homes having a separate fruit and vegetable cellar, these conditions can be controlled fairly well.
Where this is not available, vegetables can be stored in pits, barrels or boxes covered with dirt and straw.

Leaflet No. 84—"Storing Vegetables", which may be obtained without charge at the Agricultural Extension Office, gives the ideal storage conditions for vegetables grown in Lawrence county.

CHOPPING FODDER WILL KILL BORERS IN CORN

More corn borer can be eliminated by chopping corn fodder fine than by any other control measure.
Cutting the corn low also will remove the hibernating borers from the fields.

Those planning to use corn stalks

as feed or bedding should shred or cut the fodder as finely as possible to destroy all the borers. Lengths of about one inch are recommended.
Failure to practice control measures may permit an increase in the number of borers sufficient to cause severe damage.

PREPARE BEE HIVES FOR WINTER SEASON

Beekeepers are urged to provide the bees and hives with protection and other preparations for the coming winter season. Sufficient and proper food, a good windbreak and protection against mice are among chief items to be considered at this time.

Winter only strong colonies of bees. These are more likely to survive the winter with little mortality, while late swarms are likely to die.
Weak colonies should be united with strong ones, at once.

CLEAN PRESSURE CANNER BEFORE PUTTING IT AWAY

After a full season of canning vegetables and some poultry, the pressure canner is ready for a careful checking and a fall housecleaning.

You may not use the canner until next spring, or you may use it for canning meat and more poultry this fall. In either case, give the canner a thorough going over. First, wash the canner well with hot soapy water to remove all particles of food and salt deposits. Do not immerse the lid in water. Use a mild scouring powder if necessary.

Rinse and dry well. Check the opening to the pressure gauge on the lid and clean with a toothpick of other sharp-pointed tool.

If the kettle has an odor after this thorough washing, put in some water to a depth of one inch and a big handful of potato peelings. Set in any racks and pans that go with the canner. Cover and cook 15 minutes at 15 pounds pressure. Cool, wash and rinse kettle and pans, and dry well.

It is essential to clean the pet-cock and safety valve. Remove these two parts and soak in vinegar a short time, then draw a string through them.

Clean the edges of the kettle, and if the canner has a rubber gasket be sure it is clean and free from grease.

The canner is now ready for storing or for meat canning. Before storing stuff the kettle with crumpled newspapers to absorb moisture, and smear threads of screw locks with a thin film of vaseline or any salt-free oil to prevent rust. Wrap the cover to keep dirt out of the gauge and valve openings, and invert cover on the kettle. Never store the canner with cover right side up. Put the canner on a shelf where it won't get bumped or knocked off.

Plant At Kane Is Fire Damaged

KANE, Pa., Oct. 19.—(INS)—Fire of undetermined origin today destroyed the Moser Manufacturing company's Kane plant, causing a loss estimated by Owner Melvin L.
Smith of between $80,000 and $100-000.

The Moser company, a subsidiary of the Melvin L. Smith Laboratories, employed 30 men and was engaged in war production work in its foundry and machine shop.

The fire broke out about 1 a. m. and four buildings housing plant machinery, equipment and patterns were destroyed in the three-alarm blaze. Embers from the spectacular fire showered residences almost a half-mile from the scene.

ORGANIC CEMENT

ganic cement, is used to seal joints

gasoline or other fluids from seep-

THAT SILVER WEDDING THRILL!

Mom and Dad Get
"Spring of Youth"
Again—
And Love It

Mom and Dad "celebrated" the other day their 25th Wedding Anniversary —just like boy and girl again. But only a few weeks ago they felt so old,
"dragged out" and weary when night came they never went anywhere. Past 40—trying to keep pace with younger folk—now in twenty-one days all that has changed. They have found the Spring and Feel of Youth again.
By recharging their blood and nerves with certain wonder-working organic and other vital substances, often lacking in life—found renewed will to do and power to enjoy a prolonged prime of vigor and vitality.

Today it's Thumbs Up for thousands of men and women now worried by mid-age loss of youthful pep, energy, ambition and staying power. Since the production of GIVAMIN by one of America's great Laboratories, this power prescription type tonic tablet is daily coming into wider use among men and women past 40.
One tells another, "Get GIVAMIN for that spark of youth again—Get GIVAMIN and Get What It Gives." Full three weeks of use of GIVAMIN must bring a tremendous increase in Nerve Force, Energy and Staying Power to any man or woman past 40 and thoroughly satisfying or NO CHARGE. Not a cure-all, gland treatment or habit-forming stimulant, but a positive energizing force—for adults only. If you are

At Least 85,000 Greeks Reported Slain By Nazis

German, Italian, And Bulgarian Occupation Forces Charged With Slaughtering Greeks

By LARRY NEWMAN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

ATHENS, Oct. 18.—(Delayed)—At least 85,000 Greeks were slain by German, Italian and Bulgarian occupation forces, exclusive of 450,000 who died of starvation during the period of occupation, Grecian government officials revealed today.

Their figures, still incomplete, showed that 40,000 were murdered by the Germans and Italians, 15,000 by the Bulgarians, 3,000 died in guerrilla warfare, 100,000 were made homeless by the Bulgarians and 450,000 died of starvation—a total of 643,000 Greeks listed as victims of the invaders' fury. These figures do not include reports from several areas, including Crete.

The figures were released by Justice Minister Themistocles Tsatasos, a member of the Liberal party, at his first news conference in Athens. Also in attendance were two other members of the national government.

The trio stressed Greece's determination that all territories held by the Bulgarians must be restored and expressed sympathy with the popular demand for the return of the Dodecanese and Ionian islands as well as Macedonia, Thrace and Smyrna.

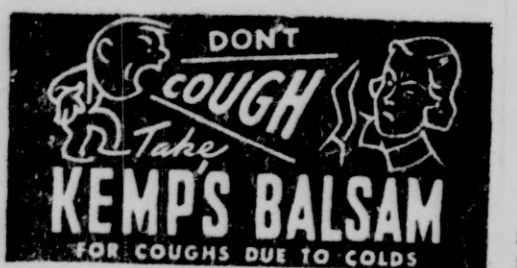

Several hundred members of German-organized security battalions and Quisling leaders are under arrest and warrants are out for those who so far have escaped.

Prime minister Papandreu is expected to reach Athens within 48 hours along with 19 other members of the government.

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Christ knocking at the door.

"Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."
—John 8:32.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Oct. 22 is Deut. 6:4-9; Proverbs 9:10; Matt. 7:7-12; Luke 6:39-45; II Tim. 2:15; the Golden Text being John 8:32.)

"Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

"HEAR, O ISRAEL: The Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might."

"And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart:

"And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thy house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up."

"And thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thine hand, and they shall be as frontlets between thine eyes."

"And thou shalt write them upon the posts of thy house, and on thy gates."

These were the words of Moses to the children of Israel as they wandered in the desert seeking the land the Lord had promised them. At first they were used figuratively, but later assumed a literal translation, and we quote:

"The sign on the hand being made to denote a phylactery on the biceps of the left arm, and the frontlets between the eyes a phylactery on the forehead. Each of these phylacteries contains four sections from the Pentateuch inscribed on scrolls of parchment."

The expression to write them upon the posts of the house was later construed literally and gave rise to the custom of the mezuzah, which consists of affixing a small cylinder enclosing an inscribed parchment to the upper part of the right hand door-post of every Jewish house."

You remember how the Jews, in their wanderings, forgot these teachings again and again and were punished time after time for their unfaithfulness.

In every home the teaching of religion should be a part. The child that learns religion and good morals at his mother's or father's knee, seldom goes far wrong in after life.

Jesus tells us to pray to the Father: "Ask and it shall be given you: seek, and ye shall find: knock, and it shall be opened unto you." An earthly father would not dream, if his child asked for bread, of giving him a stone that looked like a loaf; or if he asked for fish, of giving him a serpent. If an earthly father would then give good gifts to his children, how much more would God, Father of us all, give good gifts to us? asks Jesus.

Worship and faith that God will give us these things that are good for us come first. Then our moral education—the manner in which we shall live. Jesus said, if we see a speck in our brother's eye—or if our brother or sister have a fault, to put it another way—should we criticize him, ignoring the fact that we have many more grievous faults? First we should correct our own faults, then, if ever, should we accuse our neighbor.

Good Tree Brings Good Fruit
"For a good tree bringeth not forth corrupt fruit; neither doth a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit. For every tree is known by his own fruit. . . . A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is good; and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is evil."

Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." Paul wrote to Timothy.

If we are true and faithful to the very best way of life; if we do those things that we know are right, and leave undone the things that we are sure are evil, we will be "approved unto God." We will show ourselves good workmen, who can be proud of our work.

The final test of our lives will be if we can truly keep the Golden Rule, which is also part of today's lesson:

"Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for this is the law and the prophets."

Five Airmen Killed
As Plane Crashes

PENNSVILLE, N. J., Oct. 19.—(INS)—Five Army aviators were reported killed today following a plane crash at Brandriff Beach, one mile north of Pennsville.

The plane, which burst into flames as it fell less than 40 feet from a home, was based at Wright Field, Dayton, O., the Army reported.

An Army spokesman said one of the dead was a lieutenant colonel, but the names of the five were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

LaGuardia And
Pinchot To Speak

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—(INS)—Mayor Fiorella LaGuardia of New York City, and former Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania today were scheduled to speak in behalf of President Roosevelt in the closing weeks of the Allegheny county campaign.

Circulation Of Silver Dollars Not To Increase

Rumor Of Coining 'Cartwheels' In Western Mint Will Bring
No More Here

Rumors from the far west that the Denver mint was turning out silver dollars again sent a local reporter flying into local banks to see what were the chances of New Castle being bagged out of shape with a load of silver cartwheels.

Bankers, however, smiled reassuringly. Not only are there no silver dollars being minted in the east, but there are not enough to keep up with the whimsical demands of those persons who like to carry the hard cash.

"People carry them for pocket pieces, and give them for silver anniversary gifts," explained one man. "Even then, our stock in the vault is running low. That's all right, though. Silver dollars are pests."

"Let Denver mint all they want to, as long as they keep them in the west," added a man in another bank. "We haven't been able to get any from Pittsburgh; we have to send to New York for them. Our last shipments weren't made up of new silver dollars, either; they were minted in 1921. In fact, I don't think any have been turned out at the Philadelphia mint since 1935."

Which means New Castle people can go on slipping paper bills into well-worn billfolds, and keep their pockets flat.

HERE AND THERE
IN SPORTS' LAND

E. ALLEN, Q. M. 2-C, is aboard a ship in the Pacific. However, the Japs do not consume all his and shipmates' attention. Indeed, not there's the subject, fish! According to Eugene, that's his first name. "I claim they can both be caught in the Neshannock. Drop us a card and give us the final word." In reply to Allen and his brother sailor, we'll report that our personal experience is "They can" and further, to verify his and our assertion we telephoned Andrew Dodds, president of the Lawrence County Sportsman's Association for further proof. He stated: "Allen is right, they can be caught in the same stream." He explained bass and trout are cannibalistic, do not like each other and the association never stocks them in the same place in any stream. But now and then they do swim from other portions of the stream and get together. Trout are faster than bass, Dodds asserted.

"Both can be caught in the same stream," Dodds reported. He pointed to the stocking of the upper Slippery Rock creek with trout and bass. He also pointed out that the Salvelinus fontinalis which is a high sounding name for brook trout, has been stocked in the Little Neshannock. In reply to Allen and his brother sailor, we'll report that our personal experience is "They can" and further, to verify his and our assertion we telephoned Andrew Dodds, president of the Lawrence County Sportsman's Association for further proof. He stated: "Allen is right, they can be caught in the same stream." He explained bass and trout are cannibalistic, do not like each other and the association never stocks them in the same place in any stream. But now and then they do swim from other portions of the stream and get together. Trout are faster than bass, Dodds asserted.

While writing of trout we find an article by Bob Geiger, an AP news feature writer which says the Colorado Fish and Game Department is using a new electrical fishing pole that makes trout, figuratively speaking, leap from the deepest hole into a fisherman's basket. The device is used to capture fish that have been trapped in irrigation ditches as the water drains from them at the end of the irrigation season. These trout, otherwise, would die. The automatic pole consists of two iron spikes. One spike is driven into the ditch bank, near where fish may be trapped in a hole. The other pole, insulated at the handle, is held by the operator. He plunges it into the water and moves it around the bottom. Electricity is turned on and the pool becomes charged. All trout in the water are shocked and momentarily stunned. They pop to the surface, according to Geiger, and being unconscious are picked up and returned to running waters of nearby streams. They regain consciousness and the experience does them no permanent injury.

Saint Thomas, Dayton disciple of Father Divine, wasn't so tough for Melio Bettina. It was the army corps' fourth win this year. . . . By the way, Ceferino Garcia, is active. He's been fighting 17 years. . . . Nine hundred bowlers of the NBL gave a nickel a week in San Francisco for a Wings of Mercy ambulance. . . . The $100,000 added Santa Anita handicap for 3-year-olds and up at a mile and a quarter, the world's richest race from 1935 through 1941, is listed for March 3. . . . Report says Humbert H. Fugazy, banker, former boxer and one-time promoter, may succeed Colonel D. Walker, who resigned as a ring commissioner in New York. . . . First license holder for New York State's ring commission in 1920 was to Jack Dempsey, who reports as recently met Georges Carpentier in France. . . . Reports regarding from Butler set Sgt. Burke, officer in charge of the state police station here is an ardent fisherman. He likes to use live bait. Judging from what Corporal Hoover reported Burke knows his fishing.

CAMPFIRE CORNER

DECOYS AND BLINDS

There are almost as many ideas about wildfowl decoys and blinds as there are kinds of decoys, but upon some fundamentals practically all duck hunters agree.

For instance, they are almost unanimous in declaring that decoys should be treated with flat, dull paint that won't glare in the sun and thus warn off prospective victims.

Dark Colors Preferable
It is generally accepted that dark colors are preferable. Since ducks "come in against the wind" the decoys should be placed with that important factor in mind.

The general appearance of the puntling set-up—blind, decoys and the immediate vicinity—should of course be as natural as possible. Don't, for example, got up a hill away from a marsh to obtain green coniferous boughs to incorporate into your hideout, unless you're constructing it far enough ahead of the time you intend to use it to permit the needles to turn brown. Better use the material close at hand, which will blend with the other vegetation.

Concerning Decoys
In pondhole and small lake shooting between a dozen and three dozen decoys should be sufficient, with the larger number setting the nod in the larger areas. By pondholes I mean areas of open water in large expanses of marsh. I used as few as six decoys in such a locale once, with good results, though my companion insisted that the ducks were bent on landing there anyway and would have decoys for the spot, decoys or no decoys. I prefer over-sized, or jumbo, decoys to natural sizes, though wildfowl are far from being agreed on this point.

Interest Keen In Saturday Battle

Franklin And Washington Junior High Eleventh To Play At Stadium At 8 O'Clock

Interest in the coming battle Saturday night in the stadium of the Ben Franklin Patriots and George Washington for the junior high grid championship of New Castle is at fever heat. The kickoff at 8 o'clock will no doubt find a packed stadium.

George Washington High with a powerhouse team led by Gribble and Gilmore, two backfield stars, hope to upset the East Siders for the first time in three years. A real tussle all the way is looked for. Franklin High enters the annual battle in far from top shape. The Franklinites got a bruising in the game at Ellwood last week and Coach Austin in Commodore's scratching his head wondering where he is going to get a team to put on the field.

Franklin Underdogs
Coach Art Alexander and his assistants, Tom Smathers, have been putting in extra long hours this week on the practice field with the North Hillers and they hope their efforts have not been in vain. Something new has been added this year to the annual classic, its Franklin in the underdog role this time and Washington is on the favorite side, due to its shooting in the Campbell and Sharon games. The Franklinites won from Struthers and lost at Ellwood.

HORSE WAGERS EXCEED BILLION IN NEW YORK

By PAT ROBINSON

(International News Service Staff Writer)
NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The Empire City meeting, starting next week, will wind up the most successful racing season the New York tracks ever had.

When the curtain is rung down, the New York punters will have bet in excess of a billion dollars this year. That's right. A billion! Like this, $1,000,000,000.

Deduct 6 per cent of that for state and 4 per cent for the tracks and you will understand that both the state and the tracks did all right for themselves.

How the late James Butler would have enjoyed that. The multimillionaire grocerman who owned the Empire City track, never dreamed of such sums in his day in the sport.

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER

(International News Service Staff Editor)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Autumn is here and the frost is beginning to gather on this typewriter. The pumpkins are strewn among the shocks of corn and the football season is upon us. But there is still a thing or two to be said about baseball.

Recently a New York baseball chronicler wrote at great length to the effect that when the war is over, the St. Louis Cardinals will be shortstop for the New York Yankees and Joe Gordon at shortstop to make up the greatest possible infield combination of these times. That's a lot of bilge-water.

Far From Best

Stimweiss is a good infielder and he and Gordon will be more than adequate, but they won't be the best possible infield combination that might be brought together. The greatest such combination within the memory of man from a fielding standpoint would be Gordon at second base and St. Louis Cardinals at shortstop. With that combination you wouldn't need a first baseman or a third baseman.

Gordon was one of the greatest fielding second basemen of all time in baseball. He could make acrobatic stops and throws that were utterly beyond the capabilities of other infielders. Marion can do the same at shortstop.

So let us stop this business here and now about Stimweiss and Gordon being the best available infield combination. Although Gordon was a shortstop in the minors he is a major league second-sacker and as such could team up with Marion as an all-time great duo if such a thing were possible.

Speaking about the frost upon the typewriter, the pumpkins, and other such agricultural products, who showed up at the baseball headquarters at St. Louis but King Levisky. He is the former heavyweight prize-fighter. He now is selling ties with the assistance of a gent who trails around with him as keeper of the tie products.

Levisky copyrighted corn in his fighting days, the kind of tear-jerking corn wherein a fighter swoons to the ropes, holds his head and gives up without throwing a punch. The paid off on it in his days. He should be a riot man instead of an itinerant tie-salesman.

Cawthon Sticks

As of last Sunday Pete Cawthon was to be fired as coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers football team in the National Professional League, according to reports. Now he is to be retained with a vote of confidence.

This throws out of prospective work at least two dozen persons who wanted to take his place at the helm of the Dodgers, for no very good reason. That is a bad ball club and it was a wise decision on the part of Tom Gallery, the general manager, not to blame Cawthon for the inability shown by the Dodgers so far.

The main trouble with the Dodgers is that they can't play football, and this is no reflection upon Coach Cawthon.

Brownies Worst
Speaking about frost upon the typewriter and corn on the cob, the St. Louis Browns are not dropping out of baseball, despite the fact that they are the worst ball club to appear in the world series in modern times.

Lloyd Marshall Decisions Carter

CLEVELAND, Oct. 19.—(INS)—Lloyd Marshall, the Cleveland-California light heavyweight, today and his second split decision in the successive bouts with Joe Carter, of Rome, N. Y., but as far as 7,621 fight fans in the Cleveland arena were concerned, the question still remains as to who is the better man.

After 10 rounds of Marshall leading, Carter dancing away and sometimes countering for no appreciable effect, Referee Joe Seely and Judge Jim Parker gave Lloyd the decision on points. Another judge dissented by many points in favor of Carter.

The "Y" pool was a busy spot Tuesday as the swim contest swimmers continued on their long swim down the Mississippi.

Tom Jones, Jim Pears and Jack Sweeney did two miles which is 176 lengths or 3,520 yards, the men turned in a total of 578 lengths or 11,560 yds while the boys turned in 538 lengths or 10,760 yards.

Tom Hares topped the rest of the boys' swimmers with a total of 162 lengths or 3,240 yards. Charles West was in second place for the day with 60 lengths or 1,200 yards. Arsen Ross, Roger Hare and Fred Martin all did 50 lengths for 1,000 yards.

Tom Jones, coach of the "Y" contest swimmers is confident that his boys will make a good showing during the length of the contest.

The total for Tuesday was 1,116 lengths for a total yardage of 22,320 yards. A good day's swim at the "Y".

Butler Suspended By Steeler-Cards

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—(INS)—

An indefinite suspension was handed out today to Left Halfback Johnny Butler for his refusal to appear at practice sessions of the Steelers-Cardinals pro grid combine after he and two other team members were fined $200 each for "different play" against the Chicago Bears last Sunday at Wrigley Field.

Fines were also levied against Johnny Grigas, fullback, and Jackie Eberle Schultz, but both boys made their peace with club officials yesterday and practice drills to prepare the local aggregation for its game against New York's Giants at the Polo Grounds Sunday went along smoothly.

The firing of the trio brought a strike of the entire squad Tuesday and only a head meeting in the Steelers headquarters was successful in preventing a complete collapse of the aggregation. Club officials today said the fines will stand.

Hornets Win In First Home Game

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—(INS)—

Pittsburgh's Hockey Hornets got off to a fine start in their first home game of the season last night by soundly trouncing Cleveland's Barons, 5-2, before 3,500 fans at the Gardens.

The local aggregation thus evened the series with the visitors, who only the night before at Forest City had beaten the Hornets, 6-1.

Four Fine Games Booked In County

New Castle Plays Perry Of Pittsburgh Here, At Ellwood

Union Battles Shenango At East New Castle, Zellenopple Plays At Bessemer

It's a case of "meenie, my mother told me to, etc.—in Lawrence county Friday as far as football is concerned. There are four fine games—thrill-packed to witness. Two of them are afternoon affairs and two are at night.

Heading the night battles will be the New Castle-Perry High of Pittsburgh game at Taggart stadium. The kickoff at 8 o'clock and Ellwood City the undefeated and united Wolverines will play the All-quippa Steelers in a Class AA battle that will either put Ellwood a little closer to the Class AA toga or out of the picture for 1944.

The kickoff at Lincoln field, Ellwood, will take place at 8 o'clock, it was announced.

Good Game Here

New Castle will see a team that will be making its initial bow on the local grid calendar, and its first trip to Taggart stadium. Perry will give New Castle a good game here bringing a winning streak of three straight in Section 2 of the city of Pittsburgh race. The most recent Perry win was last Thursday when they bumped Oliver, 20 to 7.

New Castle is still pretty well bungled up following the past few bruising battles with Sharon, Altoona and Farrell, and will not be at the top of condition. Whether or not Walls, the colored fullback, will see action in this game is problematic. He was out last week with an injured knee.

Wolverines Anxious

The Ellwood City High Wolverines will be anxious for the All-quippa game to start. Ellwood needs this one to stay out in front in the Class AA contender field, and also to stay in front of the race for Beaver Valley championship honors.

Ellwood got the kinks out of its system last week when it bogged down to Beaver in the first half and had to come from behind in the third period to win, 14 to 7, over the Beavers.

Ellwood defeated the All-quippa team last year and hopes to repeat tomorrow night. One of the biggest crowds of the season will pack Lincoln Field for the classic. Coaches Howard Gills and his assistant Ted Wallace will have the Blue and White clad warriors at the top of the "Quippa" struggle.

Union At Shenango

Out in East New Castle off the Ellwood road, the Shenango High and Union High teams will be meeting at 2:15 o'clock Friday afternoon in their annual game and a big crowd will be on hand. This will be Shenango's first test in county competition this season. Neither team has had a successful grid season to date, but the fans fail to care and it is just a Union-Shenango tussle and will draw supporters of both schools to the playing field. They will be rewarded by seeing a whale of a game.

Coach Eddie Nanas is depending on his fine line for support in the Union game. It has been the play of the line from end to end all season that has helped C. Tanner, Henderson and the other backfield men to get away on those long runs. Without a fast charging line Shenango will be sunk in their important setto tomorrow.

Coaches Eddie Nanas of Shenango and Pat Patterson of Union are highly confident that their respective teams are going to win. Shenango is banking on its Charley Tanner, the triple-threat man, while Union minis are outstanding stars will present the Biggie brothers, Korab, Brown, Clark and Betts in the backfield, all good boys.

Zellenopple At Bessemer

There is going to be a tough battle at the Bessemer High field Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Zellenopple will be playing Bessemer and it is two good clubs stacking up in a game that has first place in the Tri-County league at stake. Both teams are undefeated in the newly created athletic league race.

Bessemer is steamed up by the defeat at the hands of Hopewell and will be out for vindication Friday. In the absence of Rocco Mitica, the sterling guard who left for the Army today, Bessemer will have Livorno.

A defeat for Bessemer will put them out of the running for Tri-County class B honors, therefore Coach Joe Wersek will have his Bessemer boys at the top of their game. Zellenopple is going to be a tough nut to crack. Last week the "Zels" topped Union's courageous eleven 7 to 0 at Zellenopple.

So there you are football fans, you can't go wrong on anyone of the above mentioned games, all are "honties".

Chuckran Named State Captain

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 19.—

(INS)—Freshman Johnny Chuckran, of Lansdale, was named captain today for the Penn State football squad for the contest with Colgate Saturday at Hamilton, N. Y.

Coach Bob Higgins said the young tailback was the first freshman in the history of the gridiron at Penn State to captain a varsity grid squad.

No Armistice For Germany

Nazism Will Be Outlawed By Death Penalty Under Gen. Eisenhower's Plans

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Oct. 18. —(Delayed)—There will be no armistice with Germany and Nazism will be outlawed by the death penalty under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's plan for allied military government of the defeated Reich.

This unequivocal attitude—the strongest declaration of Gen. Eisenhower's plans of conquest yet voiced—was outlined officially today by Brig. Gen. Julius C. Holmes, deputy chief of G-5, supreme headquarters, allied expeditionary force.

Holmes made clear that Gen. Eisenhower intends to rule his occupied territories of Germany with an iron hand.

Severe but just treatment, the brigadier-general said, will be meted out to the German people.

Declaring that Gen. Eisenhower will exercise the law of the conquerors, Holmes said there was going to be a German surrender—no armistice. He served warning that ruthlessly drastic steps will be taken to obliterate the Nazi party and prevent it from emerging again in any disguised form.

Permit Banks To Pledge Assets

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19.—(INS)—Attorney General James H. Duff today advised Secretary of Banking William C. Freeman that Pennsylvania banks and trust companies were permitted to pledge assets as security for deposits made with it by any housing authority in Pennsylvania.

Duff handed down the opinion after Freeman was asked by the Philadelphia housing authority whether banks or trust companies may pledge its assets to secure funds deposited by a housing authority, the justice department reported.

Re-Assembly Line In Normandy Finishes One Vehicle Every Fifteen Minutes

Pvt. Edward Kielar, 56 High street, is among the Ordnance men working in Normandy fields to assemble motor vehicles for use against the Nazis in France.

Shipped across the Atlantic in crates to save valuable shipping space, the trucks and automobiles are quickly re-assembled by this crew of Ordnance experts who established an all-time record for speed by assembling the first vehicle in France in exactly 33 hours after their arrival at their bivouac area.

Now trucks and cars are rolling off the re-assembly line at the rate of one vehicle every 15 minutes, and the men are utilizing but three hours and 45 minutes to completely assemble one vehicle. When finished, vehicles are spot checked to eliminate any operational weakness, then turned over to the unit for which they are intended.

675-Year-Old Tree Sacrificed To War

LONGVIEW, Wash.—(INS)—A mighty Douglas fir tree that had reached a respectable size when Columbus discovered America is being cut into lumber to help the war.

The tree, which reached the age of 675 years, measured 124 inches in diameter at the butt—equal to the wheelbase of a good-sized automobile. After the 60-foot top had been cut off, the tree still towered 196 feet above the ground. Timber company officials estimated the giant contained enough lumber to build four five-room houses, ten flat cars were necessary to haul it to the mill.

Draft Boards In Service Four Years

Members Of Boards Are Praised For Work Done In State By Mellon

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's 1330 volunteer draft board workers were praised today by Col. Richard K. Mellon for "a job well done" on the fourth anniversary of the inception of the state selective service system.

"On this fourth anniversary of your service, I congratulate you and I thank you with all the sincerity at my command," said the state director in letters to members. "You have a right to be proud of the job you have done, just as your country is proud of you."

"While it is true that our calls have fallen off sharply because, thanks to you and your colleagues, the armed forces have been brought virtually to peak strength, we are not through yet," he added.

"I know, with confidence, that you will continue your splendid service until the final victory is won and our fighting men have returned to their homes and their jobs," Mellon said.

Luther Burbank grew chestnut trees that produced nuts when they were only six months old and but a few inches high.

Garden Notes

This is a good time to store boxes of sand, garden loam and compost for use in seed flats early next spring.

Plan to save and use your coal ashes this winter in the garden. Coal ashes are valuable for loosening and improving the physical condition of heavy clay soils.

Shellfish, snails, or slugs, which are abundant in many gardens, should be killed at this time of the year, so that next spring when the foliage is tender there will be relatively few such pests about to feed upon it. A poison-bran bait can be used to kill such snails.

Especially, or trained fruit trees, should have any water sprouts or heavy new canes that have started in the wrong direction, pruned out.

Check over the garden stakes and bean poles this month. Scrub off the soil and discard any weak or broken ones. Store them under cover for the winter.

It is not yet too late to add an extra piece to next year's Victory garden. If the area is under seed, turn it deeply now with plough or spade, leaving the ground in rough clods for the frost to act upon.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19.—(INS)—George L. Transue, of Easton, was elected president of the Pennsylvania Savings and Loan League during the closing session of the organization's 67th annual meeting and postwar mobilization conference at Harrisburg.

Transue, who was first vice-president, succeeds L. A. Eppinger, of Ardmore.

Andrew S. Roscoe, of the south Brooklyn Savings and Loan Association, visualized a new service when postwar reconstruction of bomb-scarred European towns and cities is launched.

He said the league should be ready to handle financial transactions between foreign born Pennsylvanians and their relatives living in Europe to enable them to rebuild their shell-shattered homes.

The two-day conference was scheduled to end late this afternoon after a discussion of the "GI" bill of rights and methods of streamlining business procedures to meet loan provisions of the GI measure.

German Prisoners 'Nuts About Spuds'

PORT BENNING, Ga.—(INS)—German prisoners of war have definite preferences as to food.

Potatoes, frankfurters and sauerkraut, coffee and kuchen (a type of roll) are the gastronomic cravings of the average prisoner.

From observations made by United States officers supervising the base German prisoners of war at Fort Benning and several branch camps, it has been decided that the prisoners are "nuts about spuds."

The Germans in large part refuse fresh corn—seem to regard it with fear. Eggplant and several types of gourd vegetables they will not partake of.

"An average German prisoner of war will make a complete meal of a huge plate of potatoes," said one POW camp mess officer. "I don't see how they put it all away."

While the Germans appear to be satisfied with the food furnished them—with the differences described—they far prefer the famed Army GI bread to black bread rye or other dark grain bread of their "vaterland."

Within the spirit and letter of the Geneva Convention and also within the scope of steady discipline prisoner of war camp officials have been authorized to cater to these dietary whims of the German internees.

In the Netherlands of the 18th century death was the penalty for selling or giving away as little as a single stick of cinnamon, or for willfully injuring a cinnamon plant. The government had complete control of the plant and took every precaution to protect the monopoly and high price.

Foreign Service Modernization Is Likely For U. S.

Legislation To That End Is Being Pushed In Congress
Now.

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The outlook appeared bright today for the enactment soon by Congress of legislation designed to modernize the United States foreign service and facilitate the handling of complex postwar international problems by the Department of State.

A bill described by a State department official as embodying "the greatest revision in more than a decade" in the foreign service is expected to receive the approval of the House committee on foreign affairs when Congress reconvenes Nov. 14.

A strong effort is being made to facilitate enactment of the legislation, which has been pending in Congress since Feb. 29, when President Roosevelt sent a message recommending its approval. Unless passed before Jan. 3, when the present session ends, new legislation will have to be introduced.

Would Substitute Bill
Because of the shortness of time, proponents plan to ask the Senate, which has a similar measure before it, to substitute for its own bill that sponsored by Rep. Bloom (D-N.Y.), chairman of the House Foreign Affairs committee. The House bill, which differs somewhat from the Senate measure, has the complete backing of the State department.

According to Assistant Secretary of State Edward Stettinius, Jr., the legislation will help remove a "serious threat to efficiency and morale" of the foreign service, which has been hard hit by the war.

The new legislation is considered a big step forward by the State department in enabling it to cope with increased postwar responsibilities. If approved, still further remedial legislation may be asked when world conditions become more stable.

The House bill embodies the following major points:

1. It provides increased salaries for clerical, administrative and fiscal personnel of the foreign service.
2. It permits a greater recognition of merit and a more rapid means of promotion.
3. It enables the Department of State to hire highly qualified technical and scientific employees and to obtain the services of experts in other governmental agencies.

Navy Test Pilot Killed In Crash Near Latrobe, Pa.

LATROBE, Pa., Oct. 19.—(INS)—Navy investigators today sought to determine the cause of the crash of a test airplane near the Latrobe airport which took the life of Lt. High M. Hall, stationed at Johnsville with the U. S. naval aircraft modifications section.

Lieut. Hall, state police reported, crashed in the same airplane about a week ago at Torrance, some 20 miles from Latrobe.

Authorities said Hall was circling the Latrobe airport, near the Lincoln highway, when the plane suddenly plunged into the ground at 4:39 p. m.

Hall's body was taken to the L. S. Gosnell funeral home at Latrobe.

REGISTRATIONS TABULATED

A. Lewis Cohn, chief clerk of the Bureau of Permanent Registration, has completed the tabulation of registered voters in the county and is now working on the street lists. The total vote registered in the county is 41,693, which is high but not as high as it has been. In 1940 there were 46,000 voters registered.

The proportion shows 29,022 Republicans registered, 12,341 Democrats, 204 No Party, 86 Prohibitionists, 32 Independent, 7 Socialists and one Progressive. The lone Progressive registration is that of George Cartwright of the fifth precinct, fourth ward, New Castle.

The division as between sexes is remarkably even. In the county at large there are 21,645 males registered and 20,048 females. In the city the proportion is even closer, there being 10,967 males and 10,810 females.

The Republicans lead in all precincts in the county save eight, of which two are in the city and six in the county outside the city.

New Castle shows 15,632 Republicans registered and 6,067 Democrats. Ellwood City has 3,178 Republicans and 1,435 Democrats. The townships and other boroughs have 10,213 Republicans and 4,899 Democrats.

To the total vote registered must be added service men and women who were not registered before they went to service but are registered for a military ballot. There were 7,024 ballots sent out to service men and women. If 2,500 of them had never been registered before, this would bring the real registration of voters in the county up to over 44,000.

In the 41,693 votes shown as registered, allowances should be made for perhaps 5,000 who have military ballots. This brings the possible civilian vote down to over 36,000. Estimates on the total vote cast in the county by civilians should be gauged on the latter figure. Because it is a presidential year, an 80 per cent vote would seem possible, which would mean about 28,800 votes cast in the county. And this is just a guess, no better than the one you will make.
